Language

| Words to Define | I. Which Word Comes to Mind? (circle one) |

Words to Define
1. bathos
2. malapropism
3. metaphor
4. metonymy
5. onomatopoeia
6. oxymoron
7. panegyric
8. paradigm
9. paralipsis
10. pleonasm
11. polyglot
12. semantics
13. simile
14. synecdoche
15. threnody

I. Which Word Comes to Mind? (circle one)

1. She was too young to die

| polyglot | simile | threnody |

2. The allegories on the banks of the Nile

| malapropism | metonymy | synecdoche |

3. Snap! Crackle! Pop!

| paradigm | oxymoron | onomatopoeia |

4. A true fact

| bathos | pleonasm | semantics |

5. The least of his crimes is his complicity with drugs

| metaphor | panegyric | paralipsis |

II. True or False (circle one)

1.	Both metaphor and simile use forms of comparison.	True or False
2.	Synecdoche and metonymy are similar figures of speech in which an object or idea is described by reference to only a part of it.	True or False
3.	A polyglot is a person with a taste for exotic foods.	True or False
4.	Semantics is concerned with the syntax of a language.	True or False
5.	A panegyric is a test devised to determine the linguistic level of a speaker.	True or False

III. Matching

1.	bathos	a.	commendation
2.	malapropism	b.	humorous misapplication of a word
3.	metaphor	c.	deliberate withholding of facts for effect
4.	metonymy	d.	specific for the general
5.	onomatopoeia	e.	substituting one name for another
6.	oxymoron	f.	study of words as symbols
7.	panegyric	g.	echoic sounds
8.	paradigm	h.	a resemblance made explicit
9.	paralipsis	i.	funeral song
10.	pleonasm	j.	implied comparison
11.	polyglot	k.	multi-lingual
12.	semantics	l.	paradox; contradiction
13.	simile	m.	anticlimax
14.	synecdoche	n.	standard or example
15.	threnody	o.	redundancy