

Philosophy and Logic

Words to Define
1.	aphorism
2.	dogma
3.	empirical
4.	epistemology
5.	eschatology
6.	fallacy
7.	hedonism
8.	pragmatism
9.	predestination
10.	ratiocination
11.	sylogism
12.	teleology
13.	tenet
14.	theosophy
15.	utilitarian

I. Which Word Comes to Mind? (circle one)
1.	How do we know what we know?
	eschatology	epistemology	pragmatism
2.	If A is B and B is C, then A is C
	fallacy	dogma	sylogism
3.	Sherlock Holmes is a prime example
	tenet	ratiocination	teleology
4.	Don't do it; it might hurt
	hedonism	aphorism	theosophy
5.	Daniel and Pearl forever
	empirical	utilitarian	predestination

II. True or False (circle one)
1.	A pragmatist and an empiricist are both more concerned with results than theories.	True or False
2.	Eschatology is deeply involved with daily rituals.	True or False
3.	The explanation for the lion's mane, the elephant's trunk, the leopard's spots falls in the province of teleology .	True or False
4.	A tenet is one of the ten basic principles of faith.	True or False
5.	Aphorism is the belief that natural phenomena can be understood only by a study of original causes.	True or False

III. Matching
1.	aphorism
2.	dogma
3.	empirical
4.	epistemology
5.	eschatology
6.	fallacy
7.	hedonism
8.	pragmatism
9.	predestination
10.	ratiocination
11.	sylogism
12.	teleology
13.	tenet
14.	theosophy
15.	utilitarian

a.	seek pleasure, avoid pain
b.	fate
c.	giving greatest happiness for most people
d.	brief statement of principle
e.	deductive reasoning
f.	false notion
g.	study associated with mysticism
h.	based on observation
i.	belief in final causes
j.	study of last things
k.	logical reasoning
l.	prescribed doctrine
m.	theory that results, not procedure, give meaning
n.	belief
o.	study of the nature of knowledge